

CALL FOR PAPERS

European Psychology Teaching and Learning Conference

Evidence-based Improvement for Learning and Teaching Psychology
September 18th – 20th, 2017 • Salzburg, Austria

The School of Education of the Paris Lodron University of Salzburg is hosting the next European Psychology Teaching and Learning (EUROPLAT) Conference. The main theme of the conference will be “Evidence-based Improvement for Learning and Teaching Psychology”. We invite you to submit empirical research as well as innovative or best practice approaches to Psychology Teaching and Learning in all educational areas and at all levels.

Submission

Submissions are invited relating to all areas of Psychology Learning and Teaching: reports on innovative learning, teaching and assessment practices, as well as theoretical and empirical research are welcome. Contributions to the main theme are encouraged but not limited. Submissions for the conference should contribute to a culture of scholarship in relation to teaching and learning psychology and related areas.

The call for papers includes submission for individual paper/poster presentations, symposia, and doctoral presentations. The submission deadline is 21st April, 2017. For further details please visit the 2017 EUROPLAT website: www.europlat.sbg.ac.at/callforpapers.html

Registration

Registration allows the individual to attend all sessions including invited speaker sessions. Take advantage of the Early Bird Rate and register before June 15th, 2017. Rates increase after June 15th, 2017. Registration and more details are available here: www.europlat.sbg.ac.at/registration.html

Special Issue, Best Paper and Student Paper Award

All papers will be reviewed. Best paper and best student paper will be awarded. Highest ranked contributions for the best paper and best student paper will be invited to submit a paper to a special issue of the Psychology Learning and Teaching (PLAT) Journal.

Conference Information

The conference will take place at the UNIPark building of the Paris Lodron University of Salzburg, located near to the historic center of the city of Salzburg. Participants will have the opportunity to experience this UNESCO world heritage site and enjoy the Baroque architecture and the cultural offerings Salzburg as the “Mozart-City” provides.
